

Shaping medicine for the future

Join us at the forefront of medical excellence.

The National University Health System (NUHS) brings the National University Hospital (NUH), and the National University of Singapore's Yong Loo Lin School of Medicine and Faculty of Dentistry under a common governance structure to create synergies to advance its tripartite mission of excellence in clinical care, research and education.

Positions available for

Specialists

in the subspecialties of

- Reproductive Endocrinology/Infertility
- Urogynaecology

The Department of Obstetrics & Gynaecology is a tertiary care referral center with a national role in clinical care, research and undergraduate and postgraduate education. Founded in 1922, the Department has an unrivalled record in the Asia-Pacific region for programs that improve women's health, having pioneered the clinical use of prostaglandins, ultrasound and in-vitro fertilization/assisted conception techniques in Asia. Staff are vigorously developing already strong research reputations in cell-based therapies and botanical drug discovery, reproductive pharmacology, early phase clinical trials, genomics, proteomics, molecular mechanisms of reproduction, early fetal development and reproductive cancer biology, including ovarian tumor markers and coagulation.

All faculty members are expected to be involved in clinical care while teaching undergraduate medical students, postgraduate OB/GYN trainees, supervising graduate students and conduct vigorous research programs that generate external funding and intellectual output typical of that from a world class university. The exact mix of activities will be individualized. Besides appointments on normal 3-year contract, visiting appointments for one or two years may also be considered.

Several tenure-track faculty positions are available for motivated and dynamic OB/GYN specialists. Successful applicants will be given a joint clinical appointment with the National University Hospital and will be expected to play key roles in maintaining the Department's clinical and academic leadership in Reproductive Medicine/Assisted Conception, Urogynaecology and Minimally Invasive Surgery Programs.

Qualifications:

MRCOG, FRCOG, American Board certification (OB/GYN) eligible for OB/GYN registration with the Singapore Medical Council. Young and ambitious specialists with good academic track records are particularly encouraged to apply.

Applicants should include brief statements of their career goals and attributes that make him/her suitable for our Department. Please send a full curriculum vitae to the address including personal particulars, names of 3 referees, professional qualifications, career history, e-mail address, telephone and fax numbers, and expected salary; together with medical testimonials and certificate of registration by 15th October 2009 to:
